

Normandy Village A.M.

Before the invasion began, this sleepy little village went about its daily routine. All buildings count as Very Difficult.

The cobble road through town is a major thoroughfare. Wide and paved, it offers vehicles more room to pass.

The street is lined with low walls. These walls are Difficult.

Outside of town lie woods and rolling hills. The entire woods (each denoted by a place marker with a couple of trees) count as Difficult. The rolling hills also count as Difficult.